FOREWORD.

In this catalogue we present a large, important and interesting collection of RARE and VALUABLE COINS, MEDALS, DECORATIONS, TOKENS, OLD NEWSPAPERS, PAPER MONEY, DOCUMENTS, EGYPTIAN, GREEK and ROMAN ANTIQUES, CUT GEM-STONES and CURIOS. These are the properties of several collectors.

The coins date from 550 years before Christ, and form an almost unbroken line, with a remarkable galaxy of authentic portraits of many of the most noted persons of the ancient, mediaeval and modern world. The offering of Roman and Byzantine gold coins includes choice examples of Aureii and Solidii bearing portraits of Julius Caesar, Tiberius, Nero, Antoninus, Marcus Aurelius, Anastasius, Julius, Nepos, Michael VII and other emperors. The mediaeval gold includes fine ducats of Cologne.

There is a splendid line of ancient Greek and Roman silver coins, including many different emperors, empresses and families, and a wide variety of Greek and Roman copper dating from the fifth century before Christ.

Collectors of mediaeval and modern foreign silver will find here a choice assemblage, with many pieces rare and fine. Included are some United States gold, as well as silver, coins.

Plaques and medals of all sizes and periods are offered in considerable variety.

There are numerous United States and foreign copper coins, more or less rare.

An interesting commentary on our advancement is the large collection of old paper money, dating from the years 1757 to 1877, including as it does many quaint portrayals of antique locomotives, trains of cars, steam-ships, battle-scenes, early portraits of Franklin, Washington, Lincoln and others. Many fine Colonial and Continental notes will be sold.

An additional lot of old newspapers, not offered in our recent sale, includes issues of the "London Chronicle for 1758", a "Newport, R. I." newspaper, for 1758, giving valuable particulars of the destruction of Fort Duquesne by the French, early numbers of the New York Herald, etc.

The gems include opals, sapphires, Ceylon jargoons, hyacinths, and semi-precious stones such as topaz, amethysts, garnets, moonstones, agate, carnelians, onyx, turquoise, lapus lazuli, etc., with a few uncut specimens. There is a variety of cameos, brooches, etc., and some lots of beads. These gems can be used either for mounting or for cabinet specimens.

The catalogue will repay a careful reading, and in this offering of 1,000 lots there should be something of interest to several classes of collectors.

EXHIBITION OF THE LOTS.
